

Christina Dobson

Christina is a Senior Research Associate at Newcastle University. Her work focuses on cancer diagnostic pathways and inequalities, with a particular interest in patient experience and colorectal cancer.

She uses applied qualitative methods, and co-design approaches, to examine patients and practitioners' experiences and develop strategies to improve cancer pathways.