

Vanessa Taylor

Vanessa Taylor is Professor of Cancer and Palliative Care & Director of Practice & Care Partnerships at the University of Huddersfield.

As Professor of Cancer and Palliative Care, Vanessa's scholarship activities focus on workforce development. She was Lead Author for the RCN Career and Education Framework for Cancer Nursing and, in 2022, Vanessa chaired the Steering Group for the Health Education England Centre for Advancing Practice Palliative and End of Life Care credential.

She is a Steering Group member of the national ACCEND programme and has led the development of the 'Career pathway, core cancer capabilities in practice and education framework for the nursing and allied health professional workforce'.

Vanessa is also working with NHS England establishing a career pathway and education framework for palliative and end of life care.